“ An old preacher once told his students to never put a person in heaven if you were not there when they accepted the Lord. Well I was not there, but I can tell you where Linda Scott is now. She lives in the hearts of every person who ever saw her smile.

As long as one of those people draw breath; there will be testimony that she indeed, went to Heaven.

“ No words can express the joy this fine lady added to my life. She has arrived in pure positive energy and my heart is so full of appreciation for her life and friendship in times when a good friend meant so much. The times we both escaped to play in our imaginations together, can not be written here for others to comprehend. Bless her son and grandchildren; Bless her memory in the physical. How she made others feel will not soon be forgotten. Her smile and attitude is always welcome and her gifts shall live on forever.
