“ It is so hard to believe that our good friend with the personality that lit up a room is gone, and that we have to say goodbye. We will miss him always. There is a hole in all of our lives now. His infectious sense of fun and love for being with family and friends are attributes that made anyone who knew him a better person. He didn't know a stranger. Our thoughts and prayers are with his family that he loved so much. Words just aren't enough.

“ Steph,
Please know that you and Lily are in Our thoughts and prayers and this difficult time. Alan and His warped sense of humor was greatly missed at the Seneca County Home Builders, especially the meetings and "re-writing of the minutes". Alan was a great person to be around and I am sure there is some "witty" little thing, he would be expecting to be said at a time like this, but... no words can express the loss that is being shared by everyone who knew Alan.

“ I remember the first time I met AT 2 years ago while jogging in the neighborhood and he was watching a baseball game in his garage. He convinced me to stop jogging and have a beer; ever since then I have spent many nights watching games and having a great time with him, Steph and Lilly. Even though our friendship was new, he made me feel like we have known each other forever. Whether it was golfing or BBQ'ing he always made it better when he was part of it. I will miss you my friend, AT.

“ AT taught me many useful things. He taught me that the key to a good golf score is being the person in charge of the score card. He taught me that "The Otherside" by RHCP could only be truly appreciated after multiple consecutive listens. He taught me that the Bud Light "waaaaaaaasssssuuuuupppp" marketing campaign was the most brilliant and time enduring greeting ever created. Most importantly though, he showed me that he was truly a compassionate and caring person when his friends needed him. He would stop what he was doing if you wanted to chat about some heavy stuff. I'll miss you man, and I hope that your present company learns to understand how awesome the song "Otherside" is.
