“ Uncle Burl always seemed invincible to me as a child. I have such good memories of the times spent at the farm before they moved into their home in Forest. I remember him carrying a pony out of the barn when it was sick. He seemed like Superman to me then. As I got older I came to recognize him as the kind, quiet man that he was. He was devoted to my aunt Jennie, for which I will always be grateful. He will be missed, as will my cousin Patty.
