As quoted by Christ Jesus: "Do not marvel at this, because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out.." “ Momma,

You are loved by many because you loved with unconditional love. You will be missed by many because you filled our lives with wonderful memories.

You were always ready and willing to help anyone. You sacrificed for your family and put them first in everything. You gave them the best while taking the left-overs like making us think you preferred the chicken neck and wings over the best pieces. You loved to hold a hand and we knew we couldn't come or leave without a kiss. You spoiled us with your love and a good old fashion spanking was something that waited for dad to do. You taught us the importance of always telling the truth, and honest hard work.

The acronym "cleanliness is next to Godliness" had to be born from you. You could eat off your floors and your house always passed the white glove test.

Christmas holds memories of lots of gifts on Christmas Eve and lots of great food for days on end because you told us you were lucky to get one piece of fruit and a few nuts for Christmas when you were a child.

You loved to dance and sing and it was mostly in the kitchen because that's where you stayed most of my life. Cooking was one of your best traits and you were very particular when preparing each meal. You always catered to our wants and never complained. Your hands were always busy either in the kitchen or making something beautiful from yarn or cloth and I doubt that you have one of those things because you gave everything beautiful away including yourself.

I love you momma and I am so very proud to be your daughter. You taught me the greatest gift of all, how to LOVE.
