“ Aunt Jennie gave the best hugs. She and Uncle Burl provided a “home away from home” to my parents, sisters and I during our years in Chillicothe and New Orleans. We spent so many holidays together as I grew up, be it Christmas or Thanksgiving. Some of my favorite childhood memories involve she and her family on the farm outside of town. She was a keeper of family unity and the last of her breed. Her love was unconditional, as was her support. She and Burl’s home was the gathering place for so many over the years to watch the Forest Festival parade. I’m glad she and Burl were honored as the grand marshals of the Tree Town Festival parade some years ago. They well deserved it. Heaven has gained a good lady.
