“ Lexi and Brad,

I was very sorry to here about Trenton. I watched him grow during his time at the U and watched you both grow and mature as parents. It wasn't so long ago you were back and Trenton flew through his recovery. I am sending my hugs and prayers your way. Please hold onto eachother and stay strong. I feel that you have had much burden this past year but have an amazing ability to make it strengthen you. Please continue to draw from your strength now and remember all the good times, smiles and giggles he was able to give you.

Many prayers!!##imported-begin##Holli Clewis, RN##imported-end##

“ Our hearts are with you. If we can help in any way, please let us know. Take a moment at a time and you will get through. I know it seems impossible right now, but have faith. Sometimes we will never know the reasons, but know that Trenton will never be forgotten and is not suffering. The day will come when you will be together again.
