“ About 10 years ago, I became interested in genealogy and began making trips from my home in Texas to Ohio to visit with relatives. I was a bit too late to find Clifford and Vera Jean on the farm, but found them in Kirby. Their house became a regular stop for me as both were always happy to help me piece together family / church / grange history.

Because it has so much Bear history, I would dearly love to buy the beautiful house that Clifford and Vera Jean had for so many years a few miles south of Kirby. I sure hope someone will contact me if it ever goes up for sale!##imported-begin##Glenn Bear##imported-end##

“ Vera Jean had no children but always very kind and fun in allowing nieces to visit at her home. We would visit when other families allowed their girls to stay for a week or so. We could play or help with the picking of fruits or vegetables or hike back to the woods.##imported-begin##Iris Reyes##imported-end##

“ Vera was always know to us growing up as Vera Jean, but we learned to call her Vera. She was my Aunt and married my father's brother, Clifford. We visited them both in Kirby and enjoyed talking with them. Vera was always proud to show us the rugs that she was making at the time. When we visited her in Upper Sandusky she always called us by name. She made the best of life at every stage and always seemed content.##imported-begin##Marie Dillman##imported-end##
