“ I've worked with and known Walt for many years at Sanoh. It almost goes without saying that he was a really good person, but there are other things you might not have known. My job duties have often involved training others, or improving the quality of training that Sanoh provides.

We get so busy trying to make enough parts, and we have so many new people to train, some trainers just get frustrated and don't take the time to do it right. Walt always was patient and knew how important it was to take the time and give the details needed. I've always appreciated that about him.

He really cared about people and has done a lot over the years to help his company be more successful. We'll all miss his friendly, caring, and helpful nature. I wish I could visit tonight, but I'm in Alabama all week for work. I just wanted to share with his family and friends that they won't be the only ones to miss Walt...

With sympathy and respect,
John Wells
